Home is a feeling of happiness. It’s also a juncture where hearts and souls meet. What circumstances...

... drives us away from home to desolate places? Making us count the days of our return thus, snatching our youth.

Let no one bear the circumstances that take our loved ones away.
I'm glad to hear you will continue the good work of the previous ambassador, Your Excellency.

Of course. This may be a new posting for me, but I am very familiar with the issues.

There are many Nepali workers helping to build my country Ma'am.

Closer to 9,000 now. Improving their conditions is a priority of my government.

I am sure you are aware of the increasing tensions in Subah?

Yes, Mr. Roohan Darnal is monitoring the developing situation.

The Subah rebels have just put out a threat to all foreign nationals.
It's unlikely they will make it to the capital but if they do, we will have a dire situation.

We stopped issuing labor permits to Subah a year ago because of the violence.

Where is the most recent outbreak of violence?

I'm terribly sorry, I have to leave unexpectedly. Please excuse me.

Asha instructs Sumnima to cancel all meetings for the next day and asks her to get fresh updates of Subah from Mr. Damal. She will remain in the hospital.

Nationwide street protests have been visible since the morning. The public are protesting for the people stranded in Subah and the government's lack of prompt action for those stranded in the unrest. A few places have seen violence escalate.

We don't need this government! Down with the government!

Please help me! Can you write about my son? He has been hit by a shrapnel. He is about your age.

The rebels are advancing. They may enter Sibah’s capital in the next 48 hours.

Fact: The rebels are advancing. Everyone is panicking.

The only solution now is immediate evacuation.
Our allies will provide sanctuary to our citizens. We can rescue them from there.

The key is providing information to Nepalis about safe passage.

It's difficult to trace these agencies as they are illegal. Our intelligence agencies are working on it.

In that case, our Labour Attaché in Burundi might be apt. Ask them to make the necessary arrangements. Meanwhile, find out if the Association of Foreign Employment Agencies can help us.
Rewati Rana is watching Navin’s video on Khula Nepal Blog about Subah story.

You have made a heart touching video but what I want is a special report for our paper.

Something totally different from the rest. It’s not that you haven’t, you have. But with such stories you enhance your blog, not our paper.

Sir, we pay you for working for us, not for making your video blogs.

So you haven’t read the story of the injured boy in Subah whose parents are on a hunger strike?

It was good. It was emotional and appealing, but... finally, your story is not focused on the issue. Why do our youth risk their lives for unsafe jobs?

Why do their neighbors give them loans easily? And why do the parents readily give them permission? Where is the analysis here?

The rebels are about to reach the capital of Subah. Sources say, 46 have died in clashes while over 500 have been injured.
The situation of foreigners in the Capital is worrisome. Various countries have begun evacuating their nationals.

We’ve also been working for the rights and benefits of the laborers. You’ll find a bit of husk in every sack of rice. But we don’t fall in that category.

You cannot measure all the manpower agencies with the same yardstick, Mr. Navin. Most of the agencies have been following government directives.

Everything is clearly mentioned on our website, www.nafea.org.np. The people who go should also be alert, Mr. Navin.

Hello, greetings Mr. Minister. Yes... Was there something I could do?
The president of NAEFA has offered his help. The whereabouts of 500 Nepalis is already known, Madam Prime Minister.

Four of our planes are ready to take off for Subah, Madam Prime Minister.

We will, Madam Prime Minister. If the lives of the Nepali youth are endangered, the media will splash it all over the news.

The high level inter-ministerial coordination committee has not yet been set up. May be it should be formed now?
On to the next agenda. Update about Youth Vision from the Minister of Youth & Sports Affairs.

For the youth of Nepal, it is an amazing plan. Employment opportunity and wide spread participation. I really liked it.

We want to lower the dependency on remittance and increase employment opportunities at home.

To conclude, let's have a plan that everyone can agree on.

Due to an extended cabinet meeting, she's a little busy today.

Why haven't you updated the media section?

Hello, Ms. Sumnima. How is the Prime Minister's schedule today?
Nabin, you may not be able to meet the Prime Minister today. She’s got a very tight schedule. Let’s do this some other day.

What are your plans for lunch? Want to go?

Some other day, Navin.

We are ensuring safe migration...

...through surprise inspections, fines and stern punishments for corrupt agencies.

Nabin, you should get these stamped.

But, the manpower agencies out number the inspectors. How do you manage?

Times have changed. People are getting wiser.

That's the reason we expect public support. The victims can submit their grievances online.

The rebels have warned, they will shut down the airport by tonight.

Our planes will not make it on time. We must divert.

So, what’s our Plan B?

We have a large convoy evacuating all citizens out of Subah. We are ready to help you.

Evacuation by road? But, there is curfew everywhere, your Excellency!
We have too many citizens there to be evacuated by air. Our security teams are closely working with international agencies on the ground.

We know the desert very well.

It's a risk, but our options are narrowing.

Thank you, Mr. Ambassador.

Once this issue is resolved, work on what could be portrayed as good news.

Mr. Damal, please meet the affected families, personally. The lack of correct news at the right time leads to the spread of baseless rumors.

That's true. I will do the needful.

I can tell you what to include. The supervisors of the Labour Ministry, in coordination with the Police have suspended 87 licenses...
